inspiration to incorporate these features into a full family of Warts to meet specific needs of fishermen around the world.

The original Wiggle Wart, with its distinctive recurve belly, clacking rattles, and 'reverse gear' has long been a bass favorite for its quick-diving performance, buoyant body, and unmatched color selection. Salmon/steelhead fishermen prize its stability in turbulent waters plus its bottom-hugging, snag-resistant design. Walleye trollers count on them for straight-tracking, tangle-free performance when pulling multiple lines from planer boards and downriggers.

Since the first Wiggle Wart, we've been encouraged to enlarge the selection of sizes and colors. Our first addition was the Wee Wart, with the same basic features, but in a smaller size. Before long, Northwest fishermen began using them for giant steelhead/salmon. We were asked to beef up the hardware due to the size of these fish - up to 70 lbs.! This led to larger hooks and the Wee Steelie Wart's debut.

Requests for a tough, deep-diving bait from Wiggle Wart enthusiasts, including bass fishermen as well as Great Lakes and Pacific Northwest fishermen, resulted in our most stable bait...the Magnum Wiggle Wart. The MagWart features a special rattle system—a multitude of free floating, noisy rattles within the body chamber—that effectively attracts all species of game-fish.

Shallow waters presented a challenge to dedicated Wart fishermen who wanted to offer this proven action to shallow or suspended fish. The Short Wart does just that, in a perfect size for casting or trolling.

The newest member is the cute little Pee Wee Wart, the ultralite fisherman's dream. It casts great, floats... then dives. It's diminutive appearance is not threatening to wary fish.

Whatever your fish and wherever your waters, our Wart Family offers just the lure to assure your success.
